CADY PUTS HARRIS OUT OF RUNNING

Brattleboro Tennis Expert Goes Down in Connecticut Valley Tournament Before Amherst Man.

Fred H. Harris of Brattleboro was put out of the Connecticut Valley tennis tournament at Springfield yesterday in the second round by J. Fontenore Cady, former Amherst tennis coach. Harris was regarded as one who would get through to the semifinals at least. The score of the match was 3-6, 7-4, 7-5.

Cady, after defeating H. J. Atherton in the first round, 6-3, 6-1, seemed somewhat out of form in the first set of the match with Harris, and his many drives into the net and outside were in a large way responsible for Harris taking the first round, 6-3. In this set there were seven double games and only one of them went to the former Amherst man. In the second set Cady played more steadily. Harris repeatedly drove the ball outside and into the net, evidently trying to drive Cady for a point. Harris plainly weakened in the last set and after holding Cady to a fall, lost the next three and the match. Both men displayed good guerdmanship and were quick to seize an opportunity for placements. Each, however, showed a tendency toward hard driving and often lost points by this style of play. The match was very interesting and held the gallery tense until the last point was scored.

STATE NEWS NOTES.

Attorney Browne Gets a Job.

Attorney Thomas H. Browne of Rutland, a former member of the Democratic national committee, and for many years one of the most prominent members of the party in the state, has been appointed referee in bankruptcy for the district of Vermont at St. Johnsbury to succeed Ernest H. O'Brien of Rutland, who has held office under Republican administrations since the death of Referee Joel C. Baker about 12 years ago.

Mr. Browne has served his party in numerous capacities. He has attended many important conventions and he has been a member of the state committee. Sheriff Hunting for Clairvoyant.

Sheriff W. H. Worthen of St. Johnsbury is anxious to learn the whereabouts of Raymond Lovell, who has been operating in that town as a clairvoyant, fortune teller, psychologist and all-around expert in the occult. It is claimed that Lovell required a deposit of coin of the realm and that even with this first aid to those who wish to penetrate the veil of the future no results have obtained.

It is said that Lovell required a deposit of from $10 to $50 from those who sought his services. He has been advertising in the newspapers and in other ways and his publicity has been of a lavish sort, both as to space and statements. Sheriff Worthen has sent word to nearby towns that he would like to locate the psychologist.

Falling Wheel Killed Boy.

William Lafayette, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lafayette of West Hill, Barre, met death in a peculiar manner early Sunday evening when he was struck on the head by a heavy cart wheel, which fell from a spindie on the barn door as Mr. Lafayette was letting the cows into the yard for the night. Death is believed to have been instantaneous, although the lad's father hurriedly placed his son in an automobile and rushed him to the office of Dr. J. W. Stewart in Barre.

BASEBALL LEAGUE STARTS.

Athletics Defeat Squabs and Braves
Beat F. of A. Juniors.

After several postponements the town league got underway Saturday afternoon with two very interesting games, in which the Athletics won from the Squabs 9 to 7 and the Braves triumphed over the F. of A. Juniors 7 to 2 after going three innings beyond the allotted seven, scoring five runs in the fourth on three hits and three errors. The playing of the teams in general was excellent, considering their lack of practice, and gives promise of some good sport during the summer, as the nine are apparently evenly matched. Thayer led the hitting in the afternoon's sport and turned in an unexpected double play. Cunningham behind the bat made a very favorable impression with the fans.

Preceding the games there was a street parade by the four teams and their mascots, headed by the drum corps. The F. of A. Juniors wore their new uniforms for the first time and presented a fine appearance.

A disappointing feature of the afternoon was the small attendance, but the managers hope for much better patronage next Saturday. The scores:
